TWO STEERS MUST HOLD JITNEY BUS DIE FOR ELEPHANT BILL TOO DRASTIC

Local Republicans Schedule Barbecue and Listen to Fairbanks Talk. Expressions of Councilmen May Cause Seebirt to Draft New One.

That "hope beats eternal" was evident at the meeting of the republicans held last night in the Toepf building. After much talk and many speeches the barbecue, prescribed by the state organization as one method of arousing new spirit in G. O. P. ranks in St. Joseph county, was approved and a committee appointed to make arrangements for the event, which is scheduled for Saturday afternoon, Oct. 16, at Springbrook park.

Approximately 100 time-honored members of the party, reinforced with some outside followers from Laporte, were present at the meeting, which was favored with a 10-minute talk upon anything else but local or state politics by Charles Warren Fairbanks, former vice president, who is mentioned as a candidate on the G. O. P. ticket for the chief executive of the United States.

Mr. Fairbanks is in South Bend to address the Methodist Episcopal conference in session here and was persuaded to make a short talk at the meeting last night. His address dealt largely with matters distant from politics, although he urged the republicans of St. Joseph county to organize for the coming campaign. He made no predictions, did not mention himself as a candidate of any sort, or in any other way directly touch upon political activities.

Those present at the meeting came right out and admitted that "good feeling" was predominant. The proposed barbecue was explained in all details and methods for arranging the "good will" festival were discussed. Col. Charles A. Carlisle, candidate for nomination, made a talk telling of what might be done through the barbecue in the way of arousing the party from its state of lethargy.

Plenty of "Steer" Promised. Andrew Jackson Hickey of Laporte was present and offered to donate a steer to the barbecue as one means of bringing the affair about.

"I will donate an equivalent," replied Col. Carlisle, following which some one jokingly remarked: "What do you mean, cow's father?"

The remark was passed by and discussion of the barbecue continued. John Yeasley presided over the meeting, and the following committee, with C. B. Crumpacker as chairman, was appointed to arrange for the barbecue: G. A. Elliott, Paul Frankel, John DeHaven, C. B. Calvert, Fred Woodward, Harry Josephson, C. E. Partee, G. A. Crane, D. B. Schurtz, Ralph Gaylor, Earl Fink and Alex Grezek. Josephson is supposed to have the entire bull moose party hanging to his coat-tail.

This committee will meet at 12:30 o'clock today in the office of Mr. Yeasley to make preliminary plans for the event.

Those present were also urged to attend the meetings of the Lincoln club, which will be held the first Wednesday night of every month. Well known speakers were promised as features of the programs of these meetings.

MEYER GRANTED CHANGE OF VENUE

Court Holds Ex-Parte Case of John W. Talbot an Adversary Proceeding.

A change of venue was granted to P. J. L. Meyer Wednesday afternoon by Judge Ford in superior court in the ex-parte case of John W. Talbot, application for re-admission to the bar. A. G. Graham and W. A. McInerney, attorneys for Talbot, objected to the change of venue petitioned for by Meyer stating that the change could not be granted in such a case, it being a special one, not of a civil nature, and therefore not under the civil code.

Att. Meyer and Prosecutor Chester Montgomery insisted that the case was an adversary one and ex-parte in name only. The court held that while the case was ex-parte proceedings, still when it was objected to it became an adversary proceeding and was governed by the rules of the civil code, and change of venue would lie. The case was venue to the circuit court and will probably be appealed.

It was stated that the decision of Judge Ford is purely a legal proposition. He had previously recommended the re-admission of Talbot which was the basis of Atty. Meyer's application for change of venue, as prejudging the case. Talbot was disbarred several years ago following a series of capers which the bar of that day regarded as unbecoming a member of the legal profession. This is only one of several efforts to secure reinstatement and this time he asks that his fitness be submitted not to the court, or the bar, but a jury. The bar is opposing the case.

Y. M. C. A. BOYS NAME SOCIAL COMMITTEES

Juniors Plan Various Activities Including High School Stag Night.

Committees were appointed last night at the regular business meeting of the junior board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. monthly entertainments to be given under the auspices of the boys of the "Y" were proposed. The socials will be given for the girls as well as the boys, every other one being for the fair sex. A membership campaign will be waged by the intermediate department, the latter part of October, when 50 new members will undoubtedly be secured, according to Frank Cheley, boys' director.

High school stag night will be held Oct. 20 at the association under the auspices of the junior boys. This will be the first big event of the year and at this time Bible classes for the winter will be organized.

The committees appointed were as follows: For junior club, Wallace Davis, Robert Engdall, Albert MacDonald, John E. Dean, Wallace Kreighbaum; high school stag night, William Grimm, Albert MacDonald, Harlow Lippincott, Robert Schneider, Wagner Thienens, Richard White, J. B. Miller, C. A. Metzler, Frank Cheley, C. B. Johnson and Sheppard Lefler.

Posterettes Hit Popular Fancy With Merchants and Business Men Eager for Growth of City

Posterettes, the little pictorial boosters of South Bend, the city of industries, have taken the city by storm. Business concerns already are taking large orders for them. Not only will they carry the fame of South Bend broadcast through business channels, but they promise to become a social fad as well, so that invitations and private correspondence will also carry these little messengers of prosperity.

Hardly had the news of this all-for-South Bend boost campaign come off the press of The News-Times before the telephone bells in The News-Times began ringing. Men telephoned before leaving their homes for the office to voice their endorsement of this unique method of telling all the world about our town.

Struck Right Note. "You've struck the right note," came the messages from business men, professional men and manufacturers, housewives and stenographers and shop girls. "We always wanted some way in which everybody could boost at the same time. Now everybody can help South Bend grow bigger and more prosperous." One manufacturer said, "We send out approximately 12,000 pieces of mail a month, and I am going to have one of these little boosters put on every piece that goes out."

The cost of the Posterette is small—being designed merely to cover the cost of printing and distribution. At an address before the Hamilton club in Chicago, Theodore Roosevelt first made his famous declaration about the "big stick," which related to an ancient saying to the effect that he who says little but carries a "big stick" will go far. These Posterettes are South Bend's new "big stick." Send them far.
